

CITY MATTERS.

William Culbertson, of London, who sustained a broken leg, ribs and skull by falling off an ice-shoot, is lying in a critical condition. Amputation of the limb is considered necessary.

Poles for conducting the electric light wires from the company's new building at the West End are being erected along Columbia and North streets. The new engines are in the building ready for setting.

There were reports this morning of the death of Miss Canney, the Harrison street young woman whose throat was cut by herself or somebody else, but they were untrue. She was hysterical Tuesday night and thought to be dying, but that was all.

Courts are suspended and all county and city offices closed to-day, as well as the banks. New Year's being a legal holiday. Otherwise there is nothing out of the usual course of events to mark the anniversary—except the torrent of first of January bills and statements of accounts unloaded into the post-office.

Sheriff-elect Wm. B. Foster, will be inducted into office next Sunday, and yesterday sent in his resignation as Government store-keeper at this point. A gentleman named Chas. H. Pierce, now store-keeper at Ashley, will perform the duties of the position at both places, for the present, and is expected here to-day to take charge.

LITERARY NOTES.

The December issue of the Bay State Monthly (31 Milk street, Boston), contains a fine steel portrait and an interesting biography of Mr. Daniel Lathrop, the well-known publisher of Wide-Awake, the popular magazine for young people, and a large number of other periodicals and books. It also has fine views of his publishing house—exterior and interior—and also a view of Longfellow's "Wayside Inn," at Concord, now owned by Mr. Lathrop, and occupied by him as a residence. Mr. Lathrop has a number of acquaintances in Springfield, who sojourned with him awhile, in the Hotel de la Couronne, in Paris, in 1880.

The Globe-Republic is indebted to Capt. George Hunt, Manchester; Mr. Henry Doherty, Hull, and Mr. J. E. Liddard, of Hastings, for late English papers.

Police Record for December.

The total number of arrests made by the city police for the month of December, as registered at headquarters, was 120, as follows: Drunkenness, 34; disorderly, 13; drunk and disorderly, 24; petit larceny, 6; loitering, 26; violating ten-o'clock ordinance, 5; abusing family, 2; resisting officer, 3; cruelty to animals, committing nuisance, jumping on moving train, using pistol, one gauge, fast driving, obstructing traffic, each, 1.

The total number of arrests for the year 1884 was only 17, than for a number of more than 2 total in some years being over 100,000. Hard times, and other things, conduce to this result.

The patrol wagon made a total of 66 runs and 68 arrests during December. Three runs were for attendance in cases of accident, and three for removal of persons sick. One arrest was for a lunatic. Total number of miles covered, 128.

Literary Entertainment at Legation.

The Young People's Association gave an entertainment, under the direction of the President, D. C. Lawrence, in the U. B. church, last Tuesday evening.

Miss Lottie Wells began the exercises with an instrumental piece entitled "Recollections of Scotland," which was followed by a recitation, by Mr. Morrow, and a song by the D primary class, were next on the programme.

"Prayer from Moses in Egypt" was excellently rendered by D. C. Lawrence, Mrs. Scott, Miss Lizzie Reed, and Charles Bowers. Then came a recitation, "Christmas times," by Charles Groves, a song, "The Angel at the Window," shown a wonderful vocal power on the part of Miss Alice Voss. An essay on "Politeness and Plain Speaking," by Miss Edith Jackson, was followed by a recitation, "The Closing of the Year," from Miss Esther Crawford. During the recitation of "A Drunkard's Child's Christmas," by Miss Edith Marshall, of Xenia, many of the audience were affected with tears.

After a piano recitation by Miss Lottie Z. Taverner and a recitation from Grace Locke, Mr. Charles Locke rendered "Not so Easy," in a commendable manner. The duet by Miss Cora Holden and Miss Flossie Scott was by no means the least worthy part of the evening's entertainment. Miss Clara Neal, in her recitation, "Nobody's Child," evinced great elocutionary abilities. Miss Clara Alexander read an essay upon "Jack Frost as an Artist," and Miss Emma Knox, in a merry manner, recited "Only a Printer."

A song by Mrs. Scott, Miss Lottie Wells presiding at the piano, elicited the hearty applause of the audience. "The Orphan Boy's Christmas" and "The Voice at the Thrope," recited by Miss Davis and Miss Lawrence, respectively, were worthy of the highest praise. An essay by Miss Annie Lober, and the recitation, "Heaven is My Home," by Miss Ida Church, were the next members upon the programme. Miss Louisa Voss favored the audience with some excellent music, and was followed by Dr. Cole, who read "Santa Claus at the Mines."

"Come Where My Love Lies Dreaming" was rendered by the quartette already mentioned, after which came the reading of the "Polish Boy," by Esther Berger. After a touching recitation, "The Last Hymn," by Miss Josie Harrison, the entertainment closed with the benediction, pronounced by Rev. S. W. McCorkle.

Black Birds and Orphan Boys of Babylon. If any person ever doubted that there was a lack of talent in this city, all such doubts were dispelled last night at the performance of the Black Birds at Black's Opera House. A large audience greeted these gentlemen, and they gave an entertainment which far exceeded many of the traveling minstrel troupes. There were so many really meritorious features that it is almost impossible to single out any one for special mention. The orchestra, composed of the Big Six Band and both Opera House orchestras, was certainly one of the finest ever heard from the stage in this city, as was also the chorus, composed of some of the very best voices in the city. The end men, six in number, were "great," and kept the audience in the best of humor during the performance of part first. All hearts were beating in eager anticipation of what was to come in the second part, under the title of the "Orphan Boys of Babylon," and no one was disappointed. First came Mr. John M. Potter in the champion bar act, who at once proved to the audience that he was master of the situation as a gymnast, his backward "giant swing" receiving a hearty shout. Frank Brown clowning the bar for Mr. Potter in a very happy manner. Of
